STATE CAPITOL NEWS

By MELVIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—A diet of liquor and water headed the bill of fare at the capitol this week.

The liquor angle centered on a sudden about face of the state board of equalization which issued an order substantially more liberal than any previous interpretations of the state liquor act.

The new order permits legitimate restaurants and dining rooms to serve hard liquor with meals by means of an adjoining "off sale" establishment. While the dining rooms cannot sell the liquor directly, you may order your waiter to go buy a drink for you and serve it at your table. Previously the board had turned thumbs down on all hard liquor with meals.

The board also announced it would not police the state in enforcing the liquor act, leaving that work entirely in the hands of local officers.

Passage of the $170,000,000 central valley water project issue provided the capitol with a "chaser." With the measure approved by the people, State Engineer Edward Hyatt said he expected prompt and favorable action from the California advisory commission of the federel public works administration. The state has filed with the commission an application for an outright advance of $43,000,000 and a request that the PWA purchase $127,000,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance construction of the project. Proponents are hopeful that actual work may start early in 1934.

In connection with the water issue campaign, Senator J. M. Inman, Sacramento, said that if the state railroad commission took no action on a request for an investigation into the campaign activities of power companies, he would ask for a legislative inquiry.

Governor Rolph handed out 12 Christmas presents in the way of pardons for former prison inmates. All of the pardons were granted to men who have served their time and sought restoration of citizenship. The governor also granted Jack D. Green, convicted Los Angeles slayer, his eighth reprieve to permit further investigation of the case growing out of the shooting of a police officer during a holdup.

R. C. Branion, state emergency relief administrator, insists that there has been no politics mixed up in the distribution of jobs under the civil works administration, but that every man was chosen for his ability. The defense was made in answer to charges of favoritism.

The demand for faster court action as exemplified by the San Jose lynchings led Governor Rolph to announce he would appoint a special advisory committee to work out a legislative program of court reform looking toward few technicalities and more speedy action in criminal cases.

BILL GRAHAM INJURES KNEE

Bill Graham, of the local airport crew, suffered injuries to his knee last Friday evening while assisting a motorist to put chains on his car near the state line.

Graham's car skidded on the icy pavement and while endeavoring to get his car back on the highway another car came along and also skidded. He was assisting the driver place chains on his car when another car came along and skidded into their car, pinning Graham between the two cars. He was brought to Dr. Bernard's office for attention and is now under his care. It is thought probable that he will go to a hospital in San Francisco for X-rays within a few days.

THIRTY-FIRST WINTER SPORTS SEASON OPENS DECEMBER 31

Programs Have Been Arranged for Each Week End Throughout Season

Truckee will offiically open its thirty-first winter sports season this week end and programs have been arranged for every week end thruout the coming season.

The winter sports grounds have been placed in readiness for the season with the assistance of the men who have been employed under the CWA project. The toboggan slide, which has been extended and made faster, has been cleared of snow and the stairs to the grounds have been cleared and paths made to the pavilion and toboggan slide. The ice pond is being flooded and with a few cold nights it should be in excellent condition for this week end. Trails have been made by members of the ski club and the popular trip to Bald Mountain can be made without difficulty even by the novice.

It is anticipated that this will be the most successful season and with the co-operation of Peck-Judah Travel Bureau there should be a good crowd for every week end.

The Southern Pacific is offering a special week end rate from all points of California to Truckee during the winter sports season.

The third annual snow frolic of the American Legion will be held on January 20 and 21 in connection with their Sixth District meeting.

The Lions Club will have their second annual snow carnival during February.

Four Girls Will Represent Truckee At Sacramento

At the meeting of the Truckee Ski Club held on Tuesday evening it was voted to send four girls to represent Truckee at the winter sports carnival and ball to be held in Sacramento on January 6th. All winter sports clubs will be represented and the California State Winter Queen for 1934 will be chosen. It was voted to have Yvonne Gaiennie, the queen of Truckee Winter Sports last year, represent the skiier, Lovey Edmunds, the skater, Emma Daly, the jumper and one more girl who will be selected later will also represent some part of the winter sports.

A committee was appointed to get in touch with the Forestry Department who promised to assist the members of the ski club in clearing trails and building a ski hut at Bald Mountain.

ANGELS CAMP HAS NO VACANT HOUSES

ANGELS CAMP, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP—Angels Camp has at least two claims to fame.

The first is that there is not an unoccupied dwelling of any kind in the town—either private house or apartment.

The second claim is that there is not a real estate agent operating in town.

Residents refused to comment as to whether there is any connection between the two facts.

JAPANESE SAKE HAS 14 PER CENT ALCOHOL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Repeal has done one thing anyway—it has revealed the real strength of sake, the Japanese drink famous for its asserted potency.

The state board of equalization originally classed the drink as hard liquor, to be sold only in original packages. Japanese business men protested and a chemical analysis was ordered.

Chemists said the sake contains only 14 per cent alcohol, or considerable less than the average fortified wine.

Bernard White of Reno spent Christmas at his home in town.

TRUCKEE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO ISSUE SIERRA SNOW SPORTS

The Sierra Snow Sports, the weekly magazine which was published for the first time last year by the late Stanley Bavier, editor and publisher of the Sierra Sun and Truckee Republican, in the interests of the Truckee winter sports, will this year be issued by the Truckee Chamber of Commerce. The first issue for this year was released on Wednesday.

The Chamber of Commerce is going to considerable work and expense in issuing this magazine and asks the co-operation of the local people in getting a wide distribution for the magazine. Call at the Utility Office or the Sierra Sun office and get copies of this magazine each week and send them to your friends who would be interested in winter sports. Or, if anyone will leave the address of friends at either of these places the name will be placed on the mailing list and a copy sent each week throughout the season.

The magazine proved a successful advertising medium last year and was instrumental in bringing many people to Truckee for the winter sports season.

Gordon Dale Wins Case Regardless of Decision

SACRAMENTO. Cal., Dec. 28—(UP—Regardless of how this case was decided, Gordon Dale was sure to win.

Officials of the state bureau of vital statistics were asked to report which of two babies, born in widely separted parts of the state, had been first to receive a birth certificate. Parents involved in both instances were named Kirtley. One family lived in Eureka, the other in San Francisco. Records disclosed the Eureka child had been officially registered October 7, ten days before his San Francisco competitor.

Both babies were named Gordon Dale Kirtley.

STATE TO FIGHT FOR CIVIL WAR DEBT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—A 30-year fight for the payment to the State of California of $10,000,000 advanced to the federal government during the Civil war and the old Indian campaigns, is to be continued before the next congress.

The latest attempt will be made, according to Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, thru the Johnson bill, which has been favorably reported by the sub-committee of the house judiciary committee in Washington.

The children of the Catholic Parish have formed a new club and will enjoy the winter sports under the leadership of Father Moran and Mrs. Mildred Saunders.

STATE SPENDS $300,000 YEARLY FOR SNOW FIGHTING PURPOSES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Discounting other factors and looking at it purely from the standpoint of business, it pays the state of California to spend $300,000 a year to keep important mountain highways free from snow in the opinion of T. H. Dennis, state maintenace engineer.

In explaining the business side of the fight against snow, Dennis pointed out that it requires approximately 17½ cents from the gas tax return made by each of the 1,800,000 motor vehicles in California.

"Snow is removed from 29 state highway routes which serve in the aggregate some 11,226 vehicles daily during the winter months," Dennis said.

"Assuming each machine traveled 150 miles, making 14.5 miles to the gallon of gasoline, then the daily return from the gas tax would be $3,486, or $313,740 for a conservative winter of three monhts."

In addition to this Dennis explained that if the roads were closed for a three-month period, the interest loss on some 3,000 miles of highway, would amount to $450,000.

"It has been estimated that motorists in California spent $2,000,000 for transportation into winter sports areas last year. The expenditure for snow sports wearing apparel and equipment, together with sums spent for meals and lodgings, might conservatively equal if not exceed, this cost of transportation,' Dennis added.

"Even assuming the year's expenditure with business at $3,000,000, then a 10 per cent profit on this amount would almost equal the sum invested to make this development possible.

Dennis said that snow would be removed from approximately 3,300 miles of highway this winter, and estimated the necessary expenditure at around $312,000.

DIAMOND SHOPPERS TAKE VALUABLE RING

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—Being polite to customers isn't always good business, according to Samuel Sturmer, local jeweler.

Two young men entered the store and asked to see some diamond rings, preferably those in the $1,000 class. Sturmer produced the gems and after a few minutes examination the pair left with a promise to return later.

Sturmer hopes they will, and, incidentally, return a diamond valued at $1,500, missing since their visit.

Mrs. A. Mahne Wins Grand Prize At Card Party

Mrs. A. Mahne was awarded first prize for high honors at the card party held at the Catholic Parish house last Thursday evening and George Andrich won the first prize for men. Mrs. Mahne also won the grand prize for holding highest score for all four card parties in the series just completed.

The card parties will be resumed in the early part of January.

TRUCKEE PLAYERS PRESENT 'DUG-OUT' TO LARGE AUDIENCE

First Play To Be Presented By Newly Organized Players. Cast Well Selected

By MARIE ELLERT
Sacramento Junior College
Pony Express

We went to see an average amateur production and we came away with the impression we had viewed a professional performance of one of the most difficult plays, both from the actors and the technicians' point of view, "The Dug-Out," that we have run across in some time. Characterizations, lines, direction, lighting, setting, properties, . . . all had been studied and worked out to the nth degree and the final effect was an atmosphere of extreme realism and naturalness.

The play was remarkably well cast and while Phil Lees as Captain Stanhope carried the heaviest role and gave an outstandingly fine performance, Frank Gaiennie (Lieutenant Osborne) in our estimation was equal in every way. These two undoubtedly set the tone for the whole performance, but their efforts were realized only with the excellent support of the other members of the cast.

We liked Earl Edmunds (Lieutenant Raleigh) very much; he gave his part just the right amount of immaturity and enthusiasm and while arousing intense interest and sympathy in the audience in no way detracted from the roles of the wo more important officers. Paul Seely was an excellent Captain Hardy; we are only sorry his part was not larger. Rufus Gregory characterized the Colonel admirably and William Wilkie gave the weak, cowardly Lieutenant Hidbert all those meaner qualities for which he part called.

Calvin Sassarini, sergeant major, Herman (Bud) Owens, German soldier and Stanley Martin and Tony Pace, private soldiers, adequately filled out the performance.

To the technical staff which handled the offstage duties which aided in making the production of the play possible, greatest praise must be given. Mrs. W. F. Wilkie, who directed the play, is resposible for bringing out the best that was in the cast. Scenic and lighting effects were in the hands of W. M. Englehart Jr. and Arthur Chloupek. We can't say enough in favor of the fine lighting nor of the offstage rumbling of guns, the firing of the very lights, nor the rattle of the machine guns which produced the atmosphere of No Man's Land outside the trenches.

War medlies, played by the Truckee orchestra during the intermissions, sustained the atmosphere.

CWA GIVES JOBS TO THOUSANDS

By United Press

Civil works programs are hailed by many California editors as the most sensible and humane method thus far devised to relieve the unemployed.

The opportunity to earn money instead of having to accept charity, they agree, will be appreciated by millions of men and women.

"One of the most cheering developments which have taken place in the nation during the past few weeks," said the Stockton Record, "is the march of men to work. True, the jobs given the men are for the most part the outgrowth of a desperate national effort to keep men from being idle. The jobs of the CWA can not be classed with the jobs of normal business conditions, but they are far better than no jobs at all and they are bringing improvements to communities."

Commending the relief projects, as an aid also to business generally, the San Jose News remarks: "Think first of what it means to these men to be able to have work and to be well paid, so that they may have a chance to provide their families with a good living and be able to pay their indebtedness and gain a new foothold on life. After you have given serious thought to this particular angle, which is by all means the most important, give thought to the additional business that it means to our local merchants."

"This plan actually puts money into the hands of people who need it and must spend it," comments the Orange Daily News. "It is the restriction of spending both through necessity and choice that has dried up the volume of business transactions. Other efforts of the administration, theoretically designed to accomplish the same end, have produced little immediate effect and in their nature, can produce little immediate effect. The civil works program should do so. Of the tremendous sums the government is expending, no money will be used so effectively as that which goes directly to workers."

The plan, according to the Imperial Valley Press, "is an emergency measure, designed to take care of the situation until next February. At that time unless general conditions have improved, it will be necessary to provide other means of employment, but that is a bridge which will have to be crossed later. There should be no trouble in providing work for the men. There is always plenty to be done if one has the money to pay for it."

At first thought, states the Humboldt Standard in this connection, "it might appear that this should be a simple matter. Undoubtedly there are plenty of places where improvement is badly needed, but the difficulty lies in finding these places. It must be kept in mind that supervisors and city officials everywhere have been so long faced with the problem of economy and reduction of taxation that, perhaps, their vision has become a bit dimmed simply through disuse. The custom of late years, in fact, has been to discourage rather than encourage projects requiring expenditure of public funds."

"From this effort of the government, concludes the Bakersfield Californian, "there will follow five important results. The morale of many idle men will be raised by feeling that they are earning and not merely receiving money; the county will benefit from the improvements on parks, highways, school grounds and other county enterprises; and a necessary period will be bridged until increased industrial activity absorbs the entire working population; the worker will have money to spend; and business will benefit from the greater purchasing power of 4,000,000 more customers."

MOTORING AND HOUSING

Here is a fact, pointed out by R. L. Davidson of the Pierce Foundation, which deserves serious attention:

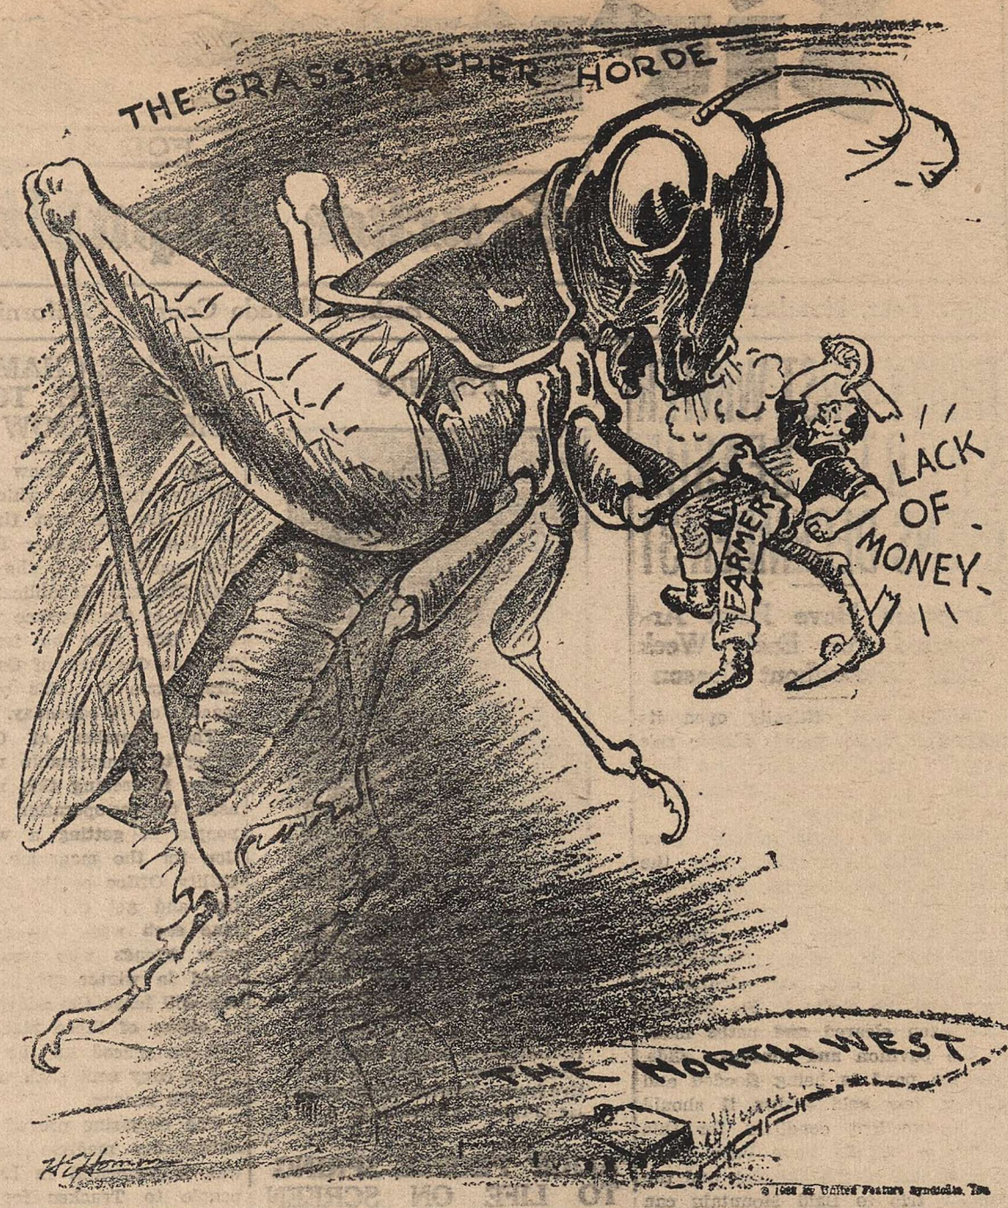
In a period when the price of automobiles has been cut in two the price of houses has doubled. Starting even, this makes a difference of four to one in favor of the motorist and against the house owner or renter.

These two industries are normally about equal in industrial importance, in their use of capital and labor, their spread of profits and their stimulation of other industries.

Intelligent competition and progress have made automobiles steadily better and cheaper. Thus the motor industry continues operating even in the dullest times, while home construction is near zero. There is a lamentable lack of energy and progressiveness in the latter industry.

What would happen if automobile manufacturers should turn to house-building for five years? Or if the building industry should be organized under its ablest men?

THE DRAGON OF THE NORTH



HOLLAND ON SKATES

It is commonly believed in other countries that, for at least three months of the year, Holland is completely ice-bound, and that the Dutch peasants find it essential to learn to skate as soon as they can walk. In fact, we have been led to believe that there is no other way for them to take their butter, eggs and cheese to market. We have visions of pretty flaxen-haired girls in voluminous skirts, accompanied by stout young men wearing wide, patched trousers, skating gayly town wards, swinging large baskets of farm produce on each arm.

A picturesque illusion! I was sorry to have it shattered. Actually Hollands climate has changed; and, although years ago it was quite usual to have six weeks of good skating, now it is considered a rare treat to have one week. And the farmers send their stuff to market by motor-lorry!

But how exciting it is when the frost does come! As soon as the ice is firm enough, everyone hurries off to the nearest lake, river, canal or moat. The children are given holidays from school to enable them to spend much time on the ice. How they love it! Ordinary games, like "Touch Last," become terribly thrilling when played on skates. The older children willingly take turns in pushing the wooden perambulators (fitted with runners instead of wheels) in which sit fat babies, bundled up in so many wraps that only their eyes and glowing purple cheeks are visible.

The skiing suits worn by a few young moderns form a quaint contrast to the lovely national costumes which linger still in some parts of Holland. The sun shining on snow-covered fields and trees, the flashing gold ornaments on the white caps of the women, and the bright-colored woolies; the laughing and chattering, the soft "shoo-shoo" and whir of skates and all the cheerful, glittering scene reflected in the dark mirror of the ice, combine to make each day seem like a repetition of a beautiful fairy tale.

Some enterprising and helpful people erect temporary shelters where coats, bicycles and shoes may be left. Others serve hot "ice milk"—a sweetened and flavored milk drink.

Long trips are organized, if the frost continues long enough. Parties skate for any distance up to about thirty kilometers per day. The famous Eleven Towns contest takes place over a prescribed course on the lakes and canals connecting the eleven towns of the Province of Friesland.

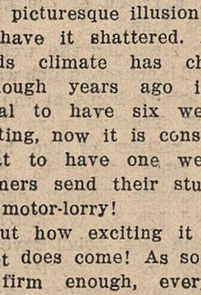
The people of Friesland, by the way, are among the fastest skaters in the Netherlands and are remarkable because they skate without shoes or boots, having their skates loosely fastened. They are thus able to slip their stockinged feet in and out of the straps as easily as they do their klompen (sabots) which they often carry in their hands as they skate, ready to put on when they finish their journey.

When the thaw comes at last and puts an end to all the skating, there is some consolation to be had from watching the wonderful way the ice breaks up, heaving and crashing along Hollands' broad rivers until all is finally melted, leaving only the memory of a delightful experience.

MAKE-UP HINTS FOR OCCASIONS WHEN YOUR TIME IS LIMITED

By JACQUELINE HUNT

A CERTAIN amount of excitement and dashing from one thing to another gives you animation. It adds sparkle to your eyes and a flush to your skin, but too much will often leave you dead tired, your skin dull and sallow, your eyes bloodshot and age-lines in your face. It is on these latter occasions that you need every ounce of resourcefulness to enable you to meet the demands of social activities.



MISS HUNT

If you have so much as an hour between your daytime tasks and your party, you can remake yourself almost completely and feel surprisingly rested and as fresh as though you had just awakened from a night or restful slumber. Watch out for little annoyances, however. It is often the little things like a broken fingernail, a run in your best stockings or a loose fastener that make you miserable for a whole evening.

It is too bad that you must worry about such things when you are all tired out and have so little time to make yourself look your sparkling best. A rare few women seem to always have everything just right and every accessory where it can be picked up on a moment's notice. Many of you who are not so fortunate must give as much time as you can spare to the checking over of details before you start your relaxing routine.

It is the relaxation and stimulating treatments that concern you most when you are so tired. The finishing touches like make-up and perfume we have already discussed. For that feeling of physical and mental tiredness drop down on your bed for fifteen minutes or so. Have the room dark and relax to your fingertips. A few lazy exercises will help. Lift one leg in the air and let it drop, then the other, then your arms and finally raise your head from the pillow and drop it back as if it didn't belong to you.

For tired eyes, warm herb packs or pads of cotton soaked in a warm witch hazel or salt solition or in eye lotion are a blessing. Press them over your eyelids while you nap or while you close your eyes and relax. If possible, have some one wake you gently when your time is up. Alarm clocks are too startling to relaxed nerves.

Now a warm, cleansing bath. If your nerves are too jerky to allow you to relax easily, then take the warm bath before the nap. While the warm water draws the weariness from your bones, you can be doing things for your face. Cleanse it thoroughly with cream, then soap and water, rinse, and if you are over forty or if your skin is quite sluggish, tone it with a circulation cream, stronger astringents or masques.

Now you are ready for your foundation preparation (and you will need one for evening) and your party make-up. Be sure to remove all cream and powder from your eyebrows and lashes before applying eye make-up. And allow your lipstick to "set" before you remove the excess.

Do not admit, even to yourself, that you haven't all the time in the world for getting ready. If you go calmly through your routine you will accomplish much more than if you try to tear madly through your toilette.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—The board of equalization's abrupt right-about-face on its liquor law enforcement policy caused widespread comment and considerable chuckling at the capitol.

John C. Corbett, recalcitrant San Francisco member of the board, who openly opposed the policy of raiding speakeasies and clamping down on the consumption of hard liquor in public dining places, generally was credited with victory, since the board's change was along the lines of his ideas. Fred E. Stewart, who has been handling details of the control provisions, admittedly "took the rap."

He took it good-naturedly, however, and said: "We'll concentrate now on checking liquor licenses and seeing that nobody operates without a permit."

Although the board wouldn't admit it openly, the changed policy was believed the result of heavy pressure brought from all sides for liberalized provisions. Attempt of the board to close speakeasies and tighten up on other provisions was considered ineffective in view of the fact liquor was consumed rather openly in many cities of the state during the past 13 years, and the people generally would not cooperat in any movement to make enforcement more stringent under the wet regime than it was during the prohibition era.

Raids, it was whispered, were started because of open challenges several speakeasy proprietors hurled at the board. "We're going to operate whether the board likes it or not," they cried when prohibition was repealed. That remark was a bit too much for Stewart.

Governor Rolph received scores of messages of praise when the Central Valley Water Project carried. He campaigned for the measure when he was running for governor, and was credited by many with an important part in the victory. The cry, "power trust opposition," voiced ceaselessly by proponents, was believed to have had a great deal to do with passage of the act.

The governor likes to refer to Lieut. Gov. Frank F. Merriam as "candidate for governor on the DRY ticket." He does it practically every time he mentions Merriam's name. The lieutenant governor has been quietly campaigning for months.

Rolph also flashes a twinkle in his eyes when the subject of the treasurer's office arises. When asked whether he will reappoint George M. Stout secretary of the veterans' welfare board, he invariably replies:

"Why, isn't Stout going to run for treasurer, since Charles G. Johnson is going to be a candidate for governor?"

It's well known here that Stout probably will become a candidate for treasurer if Johnson announces himself as in the gubernatorial race. Johnson has been campaigning to some extent, but hasn't announced officially.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Absolute Cleanliness Is the Best Way to Stop Infection

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

HUMANITY has always suffered from ever recurring infections and wide spread epidemics without being able to name the source of the trouble.

DR. CHRISMAN

With the increase in the number of public eating places, interest was finally aroused in the conditions under which food was prepared and served. The strange thing is that we were indifferent for so long. We ate and drank what was set before us without question beyond its palatability. With the advance of civic organization and oversight we began to look behind the counters and to peer into the kitchens where food and drink were prepared for large groups of people. Frequently we saw and smelled things that set our appetites back somewhat.

THE most serious factor was the discovery that where many people ate together there was bound to be a certain amount of ill health of some sort, and unless food containers and conveyors could be kept properly cleansed and sterilized, infection and the spread of contagion were bound to follow. Recently there was officially announced in New York City the formation of a committee on the "Study and Promotion of Sanitary Dispensing of Foods and Drinks." The primary object of the organization is to protect the health and reduce the physical risks incident to life in a great city where the crowd is everywhere.

THE significant thing is the array of organizations that have hastened to align themselves with the movement by way of commendation or by active participation. Here are some among the first: hospitals, Christian associations, public health service, schools of household science, boards of education, state boards of health, and the National Tuberculosis Association. These are but a few, for the list is a long one. We have various laws already on our statute books which might control the dispensation of food and drink providing there are enough of us interested.

WHAT do we mean when we say utensils in a public eating place shall be "properly cleansed"? I have watched a "soda-jerker" behind a drug store fountain as he tried to keep his trade moving. Glass after glass and spoon after spoon, hundreds of them, were dipped into the same basin of water, hastily wiped or merely set to drain and as hastily refilled for the next customer. Part of this disregard for sanitary usage comes from the fact that most of us are always in a hurry and we demand the same haste from all who serve us. "Let's have service!" is a daily slogan with Americans. They are not really in such haste, as you can tell by the way they dawdle over their food and drink once it is served, but hurry has come to be a habit.

Restricted Licenses To Be Issued In Unusual Cases

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—The issuance of an entirely new form of license to operators and chauffeurs of California who for any reason are restricted in the operation of motor vehicles under conditions other than normal, was announced recently by John A. McGilvray, Chief of the Bureau of Drivers' Licenses of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Instead of pale cream, the color employed for ordinary licenses, the restricted licenses will be pink with a red border so that they will be easily distinguishable by traffic officers.

The word "restricted" will be printed across the face of the license.

The restrictions governing each individual case will be written on the reverse side of the certificate, together with spaces for a record of any convictions of violations of the California Vehicle Act.

All applications for such licenses must be forwarded to Sacramento with the restrictions recommended by the examiner. Temporary licenses may be issued only in cases of emergency and subject to the restrictions recommended by the examiner.

If an operator or chauffeur desires to have the restrictions removed from his license, he must apply in person to an authorized examiner. He will be given such tests as are necessary to establish that the restriction is no longer necessary and if he passes the restrictions will be removed. No change will be made on a restricted license issued to a minor, without the written consent of the person or persons signing the minor's original application.

McGilvray said the most common type of such licenses will be issued to persons with defective vision. Such persons will be restricted to driving only when wearing properly-fitted glasses.

Persons with physical defects such as a missing leg or arm, will be restricted to driving a car equipped

TAHOE REGION NEWS

By "SWANEE"

Christmas has come and gone, with the brand new year just a few days away. I sincerely trust that all my readers spent as enjoyable a Christmas as I and my family did, and that the new year, under the guidance of our beloved and capable President, may be prosperous and happy for each and every one of you. Tahoe was particularly fortunate in experiencing one of the most beautiful and sunny holiday seasons it has ever known, with highways open to safe travel, despite the three or four feet of snow which we still have. Some folks ventured up from the cities to spend Christmas here in the snow, among these the Edwards family of Tahoe Cedars. Christmas Day many bright hued new ski suits and accessories were in evidence all over town, evidently gifts of the genial Santa. New sleds and skiis too were among the gifts to the younger generation. Christmas this year in our little community seems to have been universally a pleasant and prosperous one, all especially grateful for the marvelous weather.

Only one mishap has come to my attention, and that happened to Herbert Nichter of Lake Forest, enroute home from the bay region on Friday night in a truck which also contained the family piano. He met a motorist on the curve near the gravel pit who, traveling at great speed, forced his truck from the highway, causing it to turn over, throwing the piano and Nichter both into the snowbank, which luckily broke their falls. Neither was seriously injured, nor was the license number of the speeding car secured. Mr. Nichter walked home that night arriving home in the wee small hours, rescuing his property in the morning.

Miss Mildred Watson spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watson of Tahoe City, returning to her position in San Francisco on Monday night.

Mrs. Bob Harkness is still confined to her bed with an attack of rheumatism from which she has suffered for some time.

Professor Hinkle of Stanford University motored up to Tahoe to spend the Christmas holidays with his family.

Bert Watson of Tahoe City is undergoing treatment by Dr. J. H. Bernard of Truckee for an infection of the leg, which set in after being scratched a week or so ago by a wire nail.

Weller Atherton of Tahoe enjoyed a visit from his two young sons who spent the Christmas holidays with him.

Mr. and Mrs. William Topp of Tahoe Cedars were guests at Christmas dinner at the Chas. Swanson home at Sunnyside.

Captain Hans Hansen of Rubicon Lodge on Christmas Day was host at a fine turkey dinner to his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Walker of Rubicon Point and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Larsen of Meek's Bay.

On Tuesday evening Captain Hansen entertained at a post-Christmas dinner the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. George Kehlet and children Fred and Jean, and Miss Jean Overton, all of Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heller and daughter Rosalie. Cards were enjoyed during the later evening hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wagner visited Truckee on Tuesday where additional lumber was purchased to be used in making improvements on their auto camp during the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henry and children Junior and Patsy spent Christmas day at the home and Grandma and Grandpa J. J. Planett of Carnelian Bay, where a jolly family dinner was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heller were hosts to a group of friends on Christmas Day at a delectable turkey dinner at the Meek's Bay home. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kehlet and children Fred and Jean, and Miss Jean Overton, all of Alhambra, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Benadum and daughter Genevieve of Sacramento and Miss Rosalie Heller, who has just returned from the south to spend the winter with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Benadum and daughter are to remain as house guests of the Hellers for several days before returning home.

Miss Agnes Soll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Soll of Pine Lodge is now in Los Angeles where she has secured a position.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pomin and son Robert of Tahoe City, who are spending the winter months in leisurely travel, have been enjoying a wonderful trip. At Boulder Dam they met Dr. Schofield (formerly of Truckee, who is now resident physician there) and his wife, who escorted them around the big project, detailing special points of interest.

They are now reported basking in the sunshine and tropical breezes of Florida, where they expect to remain for some time.

The Ski Club entertainment held Saturday night at the Tahoe Women's Clubhouse was a decided success, a fine crowd turning out for the evening's highjinks. The business meeting was followed by an interesting group of features including "The Old Family Album," a pantomime enacted by Mr. and Mrs. Weller Atherton, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Henry and children Patsy and Junior, Sue Hinkle, Lillian and Florence Vernon, Mr. C. W. Vernon, Mrs. W. A. Simmods, Kathleen Anderson and Stella Watson. Grandpa, Grandma, Aunts, Uncles and cousins of years gone by were portrayed by the cast, causing much hilarity among the audience.

A humorous and original radio skit over station T—A—H—O—E was next furnished by the town's comedians, Gene Rogers and Jimmie Christie, which was well received.

Mrs. C. Trickey won the casserole which was raffled off during the evening and Carl Bechdolt the movie camera which was also raffled. Mrs. Fred Cowell was the hostess of the evening.

By popular vote Miss Kathleen Anderson of Tahoe City was chosen to represent Tahoe at the coming Winter Sports Carnival and Ball held each year at Sacramento. Miss Sue Hinkle was runner up in the contest. This year the affair will be held on January 6th, according to available information. Tentative plans of the Ski Club call for the chartering of a bus which will convey the Queen and her attendants and any one who may wish to make the trip to Sacramento. Good luck, Kathleen, and may you win first place for Tahoe!

Over thirty Tahoe folks attended the midnight Christmas Mass at Truckee, which was celebrated by Father Moran. Great praise was given the choir for the lovely selections offered, the church itself bright in holiday decorations. A crystal clear night, with stars and moonlight, made the slick, ice coated highway a bit less hazardous for the dutiful early morning travelers.

May the new year hold forth good luck, prosperity, health and happiness to all of you, is my sincere wish.

Mrs. Julia Danforth of Mandarin Lodge, Brockway, entertained many friends over the Christmas holidays and it was really the old fashioned Christmas spirit that prevailed.

The Mandarin Lodge was decorated with serpentine in various shades, holly wreaths and colored lights. A Christmas tree, twelve feet in height, stood illuminated in one corner of the room, from which each of the nineteen guests were presented with a small gift. In order to receive their gift each guest was called on to give a solo or impersonation of some sort. Mrs. J. J. Planett of Carnelian Bay was especially clever in a song skit of seven nations. Old fashioned dancing followed along with delightful refreshments.

Christmas Eve at the Mandarin Lodge was the scene of a very charming party in honor of the birthday of Jerry Cronin of San Francisco, a guest at the lodge. A birthday dinner was served at 7 P. M. by Mrs. Danforth with holly berries and tapers to match used for table decorations. The main course was a goose with all the trimmings with a beautiful birthday cake presented to Mr. Cronin at the end of the dinner. The guests enjoyed games and dancing for the remainder of the evening.

On Christmas day, Mrs. Danforth, who is well known for her most generous hospitality, set a beautiful table with an abundance of goodies, including turkey, to fourteen guests. Christmas carols were sung and the day ended in the departure of her guests for their homes after a perfect week end at Mandarin Lodge.

The guests were Miss Zola Hubert, Mrs. Julia Sneathers, Lois and Carrol, Miss Jeanette Johnston, Mr. E. Jones, all of Sacramento; Miss M. Clark and Jerry Cronin of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clark of Reno, General Wentworth Crowell of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Planett and son Fred of Carnelian Bay and Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Statton of Phoenix, Arizona, and the hostess, Mrs. Julia Danforth and son Dudley.

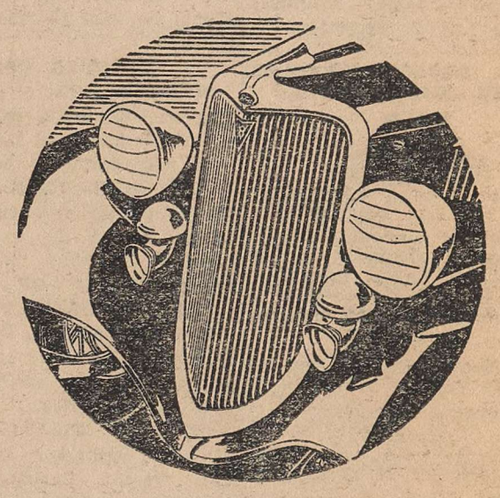
Let the car speak for itself



HUNDREDS of thousands of people now own and drive Ford V-8 cars. Some neighbor or friend of yours has one. If we told you what we think of the car, you might say we are prejudiced, so we let the car and its owner tell you.

Economy of operation is one of the first points they will emphasize—the owner will boast of it and the car will prove it.

The 1934 car is even better than the 1933—and that was our best car up to its time. The new car is more beautiful—faster—more powerful—gives more miles to the gallon—better oil economy—is easier riding—cheaper to own and operate than any car we ever built.

You owe it to yourself and your pocketbook to ask our Ford Dealer to let you see this car, and let you drive it for yourself. At the wheel of the car you will be sure to reach a right decision. The Ford V-8 will tell you its own story.

Short Line Railroads Present Transportation Views To Coordinator

EQUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY SOUGHT

"All competitive transportation agencies should be so regulated by the same administrative tribunal as to accord equality of opportunity," says the American Short Line Railroad Association, of which Hobart Southern Railroad Co. is a member, in a brief just filed with the Federal Coordinator of Transportation, by W. L. White, President and C. A. Miller, General Counsel.

The Association urges that all competitive transportation agencies should be regulated by the Federal tition than have the larger roads, Commerce Commission. Otherwise, it says, "There can be no such complete system of regulation of transportation agencies as will accord each of them an equal opportunity." Its view is that divided regulatory authority would result in each regulatory tribunal promoting the interests of the transportation agency regulated.

MOTOR VEHICLE REGULATION SOUGHT

Stressing the need for Federal regulation of both common and contract motor vehicle carriers engaged in interstate commerce, the Association says that the short lines have suffered greater proportionate losses from this unregulated compe- government, through the Interstate chiefly because of the shortness of their haul, which makes it impossible for them to recoup on long haul traffic the revenue lost by the diversion of their short haul traffic to the highways. It is the view of the Association that motor vehicles should be used as "feeders" for the railroads.

SUBSIDIES OPPOSED

Striking at what it calls subsidies granted both motor and inland waterway carriers, the Association says each transportation agency should be required to furnish its own facilities or make a suitable contribution toward the expense of the facilities furnished them.

DIVORCEMENT OF RAILROADS FROM INDUSTRIES OPPOSED

The Association is opposed to any legislation the effect of which would be to forbid the ownership of railroads by industries.

Addressing itself to the inquiry of the Coordinator as to whether the present Commodities Clause should be modified to forbid by specific enactment the ownership of railroads by industries, the Association says "there is no presently existing evil corrupting mankind that can be cured by prohibiting industries to own railroads." Pointing out that the mother of the industrally-owned railroads is necessity, it is stated that they are economically sound and a necessary part of the Nation's transportation system. Any abuses in which industries might seek to indulge through the ownership of railroads may be remedied by the Interstate Commerce Commission, making prohibition of such ownership unnecessary in view of the Association. Doubt is expressed as to the power of Congress to enact such legislation.

INDUSTRIALLY-OWNED WATER CARRIERS FAVORED

To apply the present or a broader Commodities Clause to water carriers would adversely affect or destroy at least 50 per cent of the American merchant marine owned, controlled or affiliated with industries other than shipping, the Association states, pointing out that many of the so-called industrial water carriers have to use vessels of very special type or arrangement, not suitable for general trading, in order to meet special cargo needs.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS FOR LEGISLATION

The Association informs the Coordinator that it will seek a legislative repeal of the decision of the Supreme Court in the Subiaco Routing Case (United States v. Missouri Pacific R. R. Co., 278 U. S. 269) which denied the Interstate Commerce Commission the authority to establish such through routes as it deemed to be in the public interest.

Congress will also be requested to clarify the provisions of the Transportation Act, 1920, providing for losses suffered by short line railroads not taken under Federal control.

The Association expresses its views on a number of other legislative proposals.

with such mechanical devices as shall, in the judgment of the examiner, permit them to operate with safety.

For example, a person whose left arm is missing would not be permitted to drive unless his car was equipped with some sort of device enabling him to give turning signals.

Deaf persons who can successfully pass the necessary tests, will be restricted to the operation of vehicles equipped with rear and side view mirrors.

Minors of the younger age group, in most cases will be permitted to operate only cars owned by their parents and may be further restricted to only drive to and from school.

In some cases, drivers who are unable to handle a car in traffic will be restricted to driving only on certain designated roads or under certain special conditions.

McGilvray said it was intended to use the restricted license only when necessary as a matter of general safety and that every attempt would be made to cause as little inconvenience as possible to applicants for license.

Drivers found violating the restrictions will have their license revoked promptly he said.

STATE OFFICIALS TO GIVE WORK TO 5,000

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—State officials hope to give employment to 5,000 men in state labor camps by the end of the year, according to Dan Blood, state director of natural resources.

The 36 camps now in operation under the direct supervision of the state division of forestry, are working more than 3,000 men, with more being put on daily.

The present winter season is the third during which the state has operated labor camps for the benefit of single resident unemployed workers of the state.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

The Undernourished Child

The undernourished or malnourished child does not always present a typical picture. I mean that he does not match a standard. Take two known cases and we may find marked differences in their signs and symptoms. That is why, in the article of last week, I stressed the necessity of taking a child to the physician.

It may help you, however, to know some of the common signs. If they are present, let your doctor decide the meaning. There is usually evidence of fatigue. The child tires easily, and he looks tired. Frequently he shows no inclination to play, a condition that is unnatural to most children. On the other hand, you will find cases that never seem to tire. But instead of normal, healthful activity, we see nervous fidgeting and ceaseless, meaningless movement. Posture is often poor in both types. The muscles feel soft and stringy, instead of being firm and elastic. The eyes are dull, lustreless; often there are pouches or rings beneath them.

As a rule, the malnourished child doesn't sleep or rest well. He may be irritable, easily disturbed by trifles, hard to get along with. The appetite is fickle. Food is picked instead of enjoyed. Don't be guided too much by weight or height. These are not reliable standards.

Dr. Ireland will write more about malnutrition in his next article.

U. S. PRINTING OFFICE

The type set in the United States Printing Office each year would print an eight-column newspaper of 750,000 pages, or 612 encyclopedia volumes with 1000 pages in each book.

MAN TAKES SHOT AT BURGLAR IN DARK

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—It all depends on the marksmanship of Robert Upton, employed as a clerk at Elk Grove, near here.

If his aim was as he believed it to be, the nocturnal intruder who recently robbed the Marhofer store probably has been taking his meals standing up since the visit. Upson said he fired a shotgun charge of light shot at the man as he fled through a window. An exclamation, none too joyous, convinced him he had hit the target.

The burglar's loot consisted of but a few pennies collected as sales tax.

Finance Director Says 44 Counties Enough for State

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Finance Director Rolland A. Vandegrift's proposal to abolish present county governments and set up concentrated areas with central administration, has drawn a variety of comments, mostly favorable, from newspaper editors, financial experts and politicians.

Vandegrift thinks 44 counties would be plenty for California, instead of the present 58. Looking further ahead, he believes the county system could be eliminated almost entirely. Combining various offices and changing political boundaries would mean a total saving of $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 annually to the taxpayers as a whole, he estimated.

Under his plan of concentrated regional administration, the state would be divided into 14 regions with a "greater county center" in each.

Truckee, for instance, instead of being a community in Nevada county would be included in one of the large areas in which the governmental activities would be organized to eliminate much of the duplication now existing.

"We'll never have a businesslike organization in government, or obtain the largest measure of efficiency of a full 10 per cent return on the taxpayer's dollar until we have enough intestinal fortitude on the part of public office holders to disregard politics and vote getting and apply common horse sense," Vandegrift said in discussing the proposal.

"Some objectors claim politics would prevent a combination of governmental offices. However, consolidations have been made before, and a consolidation program has been underway nationally for many years."

Vandegrift would arrange the 14 districts along industrial, agricultural and population lines, attempting to centralize interests as well as governmental functions. Instead of 58 sheriffs, assessors, county clerks, boards of supervisors and so on, there would be only 14 of each in the state.

RESOURCEFUL JUDGE MARRIES TWO MUTES

HANFORD, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Justice of the Peace Harry V. Brenton proved himself resourceful.

Bradley James Duncan, 24, and Arkie Elizabeth Poly, 21, Visalia deaf-mutes, appeared before him to be married.

For a moment the justice was at a loss. The usual question and answer form of ceremony, he realized, could not be used.

So he wrote the questions for the couple. They smiled and nodded their answers.

Then the justice triumphantly flourished a typed statement pronouncing them man and wife.

Perhaps before long some of these stratosphere fliers will hitch their star to their wagons.

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read next Sunday, December 31, on the subject "Christ Jesus."

The Golden Text will be: "Thou, Beth-lehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting." (Micah 5:2) Bible selections will include the following passage from John 8:12, "Then spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."

Passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Heatlh with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included which read as follows: "Jesus represented Christ, the true idea of God . . . Christ presents the indestructible man, whom Spirit creates, constitutes, and governs. Christ illustrates that blending with God, his divine Principle, which gives man dominion over all the earth." WIFE BEATER FINED $5 FOR EACH BLOW

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP) — Blows administered by a wife-beater were quoted at $5 each in justice court here.

Arrested on a charge of battery sworn to by his wife, William White, painter, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace G. F. Terzog. The justice assessed a fine of $20, equivalent to $5 a blow.

White's contention that his wife was "very good with her dukes" failed to impress his honor.

CAMP YOUTHS IN SIERRA RESCUE

TULARE, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Four civilian conservation camp youths were credited today with saving the life of an unidentified deer hunter stricken with tropical fever while on a pack trip into the timbered Sierras above Isabella.

Informed by the man's hunting partner that he was critically ill 22 miles from their camp, the four rushed to the rescue. Harnessing one end of a stretcher to a pack mule, the youths worked in relays to carry the victim over mountain trails to a highway, where he was transferred to a commandeered automobile and taken to a Porterville hospital.

The man who earned $10,000,00 from the invention of the umbrella seems to have been one person who could save money by increasing the overhead.

Quarantine Inspectors Find Odd 'Vermicelli'

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—State plant quarantine inspectors may be classed among those who do not believe it's "fun to be fooled."

When a shipment of twenty-seven cases of vermicelli recently arrived at San Francisco from Japan, the inspectors were at least a little suspicious. They decided to investigate.

The Japanese "vermicelli" shipment was found to consist of contraband Chinese narcissus bulbs, importation of which violates both federal and state quarantine regulations.

MOTORISTS ADVISED TO CARRY LICENSES

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Motorists who fail to carry their drivers' licenses with them while rolling along California highways will hereafter be required to "tell it to the judge."

Instructions issued by E. Raymond Cato, chief of the state highway patrol, to members of the traffic force, call for filing of misdemeanor charges against any driver of a motor vehicle found without a license. Previously it had been the custom merely to issue a warning.

The new policy, it was believed, will enable a closer check on persons whose licenses have been revoked and also will tend to build up public respect for the operator's license.

'White Collared' Men Throughout State Earn Living By Labor

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Hundreds of "white collared" men who seldom ever did a bit of manual labor are earning their living this winter through the aid of the state department of public works, which set aside nearly $2,000,000 for special road work to relieve unemployment conditions.

The relief work, a part of the department's activity each winter during the depression era, originally extended mostly to the vagrant type. But this year, the need of work for the white collared class was recognized, and men of that type were given preference.

As a result, 18 men have been put to work in Nevada county, and approximately 4,000 will have been hired throughout the state by January 1.

Nearly all quotas in the relief work have been filled, department officials emphasized, and there are no more openings.

Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department, affixed the term, "The Forgotten Man" to the type of unemployed whose physique barred him from manual labor; whose possibility of obtaining office employment was blocked by civil service regulations; whose ownership of a small home prevented him from obtaining charity relief in one form or another. The class includes salesmen, insurance brokers and clerks.

When the department began outlining the work for the winter, "the forgotten men" were given first choice, and were selected by committees in the various localities in which they lived. Mayors, American Legion commanders and prominent business men cooperated in choosing representative men to be given employment. Only those with dependents were hired.

The work has been concentrated on secondary highway systems, where the men are employed five days every other week at $4.40 per day. In other words, they earn $22 every other week, or about $45 a month. The stagger plan was evolved to make possible the employment of twice as many as could ordinarily be handled.

First crews began work December 4. The activity was apportioned to counties in relation to the amount of road work necessary. Crews now are engaged in improving road surfaces, digging ditches, cleaning culverts, cutting weeds, repairing bridges and doing all other types of improvement work which may be done by unskilled labor. The department hoped to extend the work until May.

Bandits Tie Clothier With Stock of Neckties

(UP)—The old-time western method of dealing with "bad men" was reversed here recently when bandits instead of vigilantes staged a "necktie" party.

In this case, however, Joe Davis, clothing store proprietor, was only bound and gagged with an armful of ties selected from his stock of merchandise. The two robbers made their getaway with $100 from the till, he reported.

Davis freed himself from his fetters after 10 minutes of wriggling and squirming, he said.

GOVERNOR OPERATES UNDER AN "ECONOMY ALLOWANCE"

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 28—(UP)—Even the state's chief executive has to operate under an "economy allowance," according to Governor Rolph.

Preparing to leave for San Francisco, the governor was handed his expense money by Secretary W. A. Smith. It was a fat envelope, apparently well stocked with bills.

Opening the envelope, Rolph counted out ten one dollar bills and three fives. "Thats' my allowance," said the governor with a grin, "Smith makes it look big by putting in a lot of ones.
